EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The multi-university project will be led by Morrison Institute for Public Policy (MI). MI will also assist with tri-university IRB applications needed for primary data being collected, as needed. The MI team will gather updates from the three points of contact from each university and report progress on a bi-monthly basis. The MI will also gather the research products from all contributors and synthesize the findings and state-level and municipal strategies to address identified challenges.
